

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An improved structure of a screwdriver tip comprising a screwdriver shaft and a screwdriver tip, a circular hole being provided on the top face of the shaft body of the screwdriver shaft, closing to the front s end thereof, and the shaft body being hollow for the insertion of the rod of the screwdriver tip, a cavity of an appropriate depth being provided at the rear end top face of the rod of the screwdriver tip, the cavity corresponding to the circular hole of the shaft body of the screwdriver, allowing the mounting of an elastic pad body.